

INTERIOR FINISHES

Color Combinations

From neutrals to brights, and from beaches to woods, these interior color combinations offer ideas and inspiration to help you find the colors of your home.

As you consider the options, keep the following tips in mind to get you started:

- Lighter colors tend to make a room appear larger, while darker colors tend to make a room seem smaller.
- The lighting that exists in the room, from windows as well as fixtures, will impact how you see color.
- Pairing monochromatic, or similar, colors for walls, trim and accent walls enables you to use different colors but still have color flow across rooms and open floor plans.
- Color and emotion are connected. Be sure to link how a color makes you feel with the kind of ambiance you want in a room. For example, does the color energize you in a work space?
- Utilizing test boards or test patches on the wall is highly recommended before painting your full wall. Check on the color test as light changes throughout the day.
